

Bhaavikka Agarwaal is a 3rd-year BTech student in Computational Biology at Mahindra University. She has worked on projects, including analyzing cancer images and building a drug search app. Through her internships, she has gained experience in modeling 3D protein structures and predicting molecular interactions. She is skilled in Python, C++, and MySQL, and enjoys applying her knowledge to solve real-world problems.