

MSc Edgar López López completed his undergraduate studies at the Universidad Veracruzana, where he obtained the title of Clinical Chemist in 2019. From 2019 to 2021 he completed postgraduate studies at the Center for Research and Advanced Studies of the National Polytechnic Institute (CINVESTAV) where he obtained the degree of Master of Science in the specialty of Pharmacology. Currently, Edgar is a PhD student at CINVESTAV, attached to the Department of Pharmacology, where he is developing a line of research dedicated to the design, synthesis, and biological evaluation of anticancer agents.

His scientific production consists of 34 publications in internationally prestigious publishers with refereeing, which have been cited on more than 700 occasions. He is a referee for 7 internationally prestigious journals. In addition, he is a topic coordinator in the scientific journal "Frontiers in Drug discovery".

In 2016, he was awarded the High Academic Performance Award, granted by the Universidad Veracruzana, for his outstanding academic career. In 2020, he received the honorable mention "HOT article" for publishing one of the most consulted articles in the RSC Advances journal. In 2024, he received the "Top 10 Cited Article" recognition, for publishing one of the most cited articles in the scientific journal Molecular Informatics.

In 2024, he was awarded the "Top 100 Future Leaders" award, awarded by the American Chemical Society (ACS). And, in 2024, he was distinguished as a "Member of the Royal Society of Chemistry" (MRSC).

Links:

Research Gate: <https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Edgar-Lopez-Lopez-4>

LinkedIn: linkedin.com/in/edgar-lópez-lópez-5b8785158

Google Scholar: <https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=nRijRHkAAAAJ&hl=es&oi=ao>