

Andrey Rzhetsky is an Edna K. Papazian Professor of Medicine and Human Genetics at the University of Chicago. He is also a Pritzker Scholar, and a Senior Fellow at the Institute for Genomics and Systems Biology at the University of Chicago. His research is focused on computational dissection of etiology of complex human diseases.